

APPENDIX

APPENDIX 1 TIMELINE OF JAPANESE HISTORY AND BUDŌ

I. Budō Tradition until the End of the Tokugawa (Edo) Period (Timeline 1)
Era	Year	Historical Event	Budō Tradition
Paleolithic		Lifestyle sustained by hunting, fishing and gathering.	Stone spear and arrow heads come into use.
Jōmon	10,000 BC	Beginning of Jōmon style pottery.	Ancient bows have been excavated from archeological sites in the Hokuriku region that date to around 400 BC.
Yayoi	300 BC	Wet rice agriculture is introduced from the continent. Complex political unit of kuni (country) evolves from smaller mura (village).	Sumō wrestling rituals are conducted to encourage bountiful harvests of the “five grains”. Widespread skirmishes break out between rival mura and kuni .
	239 AD	Himiko of Yamataikoku establishes tributary relations with the Cao Wei Kingdom.	Archery is recorded in the Gishi Wajin-den .
Kofun	Late 3rd C	Large burial tombs known as kofun are constructed.	Haniwa pottery statues of warriors and horses are produced.
	Late 4th C	The Yamato court unifies Japan.	Metal swords with kanji inscriptions from this period have been unearthed.
Asuka	604	Prince Shōtoku dispatches an envoy to China.
	645	The “Taika Reforms” are enacted with the aim of strengthening imperial rule.	A Struggle breaks out concerning the introduction of Buddhism into Japan.
	663	Silla-Tang forces are victorious at the Battle of Baek-gang in Korea.	Warriors are dispatched to Korea.
Nara	710	Nara (Heijōkyō) becomes the capital of Japan. The Ritsuryō system is established.	The Nihon Shoki is compiled in 720. The origins of sumō are explained in a section of the Nihon Shoki .
Heian	794	Emperor Kammu moves the capital from Nagaoka-kyō to Heiankyō (Kyoto).	Jarai (archery) and sumō-sechie (wrestling) is conducted in court as yearly rituals.
	10th C	Emergence of professional warriors (bushi).	Distinctive Japanese swords (Nihon-tō) with shinogi (side ridges) and curvature (sori) are developed around this time.
	1180	Gempei War.	Bushi develop skills in mounted-archery (kyūba).
Kamakura	1192	The Kamakura Bakufu is established.	Bushi hone their skills in mounted archery by training in kasagake and inuōmono .
	1274 & 81	Mongols attempt to invade Japan.	Gokenin (direct vassals of the shogunate) weaken as a new strata of powerful warriors emerges.
Muromachi (Nanbokuchō)	1336	The Muromachi Bakufu is established and the imperial court is divided into Southern and Northern lines.	Bands of warriors engage in battle in the struggle for power with bladed weapons. Ogasawara Sadamune writes treatises on kyūba and forms of etiquette.
	1392	Ashikaga Yoshimitsu unifies the Northern and Southern Courts.	The uchi-gatana (inserted at the waist) replaces the traditional tachi as the preferred auxiliary weapon.

I. Budō Tradition until the End of the Tokugawa (Edo) Period (Timeline 1)
Era	Year	Historical Event	Budō Tradition
Muromachi (Sengoku)	1467	Ōnin War. Start of Warring States (Sengoku) period.	Martial art schools (ryūha) begin to form. Notable ryūha progenitors include Iizasa Chōsai (Tenshin Shintō-ryū), Aisu Ikō (Kage-ryū), Heki Danjō (Heki-ryū archery) etc.
	1493	Sengoku daimyō (warlords) increase autonomy and power.
	1543	Firearms introduced into Japan via Tanegashima.
	1560	Firearms increase in prevalence.
	1573	Oda Nobunaga topples the Muromachi Bakufu.
Azuchi Momoyama (Period of Unification)	1575	Guns used to great effect at the Battle of Nagashino.
	1590	Toyotomi Hideyoshi unifies the realm.	Ryūha dedicated to specific martial arts such as kenjutsu , sōjutsu , iaijutsu , jūjutsu , and hōjutsu emerge.
	1600	The Battle of Sekigahara. Tokugawa Ieyasu gains hegemony over Japan.	Massive change in national daimyō structure. Musha-shugyō becomes widespread.
Tokugawa (Early)	1603	The Edo (Tokugawa) Bakufu is established.
	1615	Osaka Summer Siege signals the end of war.	The Bakufu and domains (han) employ specialist martial art instructors.
	1639	Japan enters a period of national isolation (sakoku). The feudal structure (bakuhans-taisei) is established.	Yagyū Munenori writes Heihō Kadensho (1632). Miyamoto Musashi writes Gorin-no-Sho (1645).
Tokugawa (Middle)	1651	The Bakufu establishes laws and precepts of governance as the realm enters a period of extended peace, arable lands are developed, roads are built, and the whole country enjoys economic prosperity.	From this time on, ryūha become more organized and sophisticated in content, although less practical from a combat perspective. Competitions such as the tōshisha archery contest at the Sanjūsangen-dō in Kyoto become increasingly popular. Also, the dohyō (wrestling mound) is introduced in sumō , and techniques are systemized.
	1716	Shogun Yoshimune enacts the Kyōho Reforms.	Martial arts practice is encouraged, and yabusame becomes popular again. The Honchō Bugei Shōden is published. Shinai and protective armour (bōgu) is devised for kenjutsu .
	1767–	Tanuma Okitsugu introduces monetary reform.	Full-contact fencing (gekken) using shinai and bōgu becomes increasingly prevalent.
Tokugawa (Late)	1787	Matsudaira Sadanobu enacts the Kansei Reforms.	Many domain schools (hankō) are established throughout the country, and martial arts instruction is promoted.
	1800–	Foreign ships approach Japan's shores. Riots (ikki) and civil unrest continues.	New bujutsu ryūha that are more practical are developed.
	1841–	Mizuno Tadakuni institutes the Tempo Reforms.	Gekken (fencing) becomes popular among farmers. Musha-shugyō becomes widespread again.

I. Budō Tradition until the End of the Tokugawa (Edo) Period (Timeline 1)
Era	Year	Historical Event	Budō Tradition
Tokugawa (Bakumatsu)	1853	Commodore Matthew Perry arrives in Japan.	The Bakufu establishes the Kōbusho in 1856.
	1860	After the Sakuradamon Incident, the xenophobic sonnō-jōi movement continues to try and overthrow the Bakufu.	Kenjutsu taught at the Kōbusho transcends ryūha affiliation by standardizing the length of shinai to 3-shaku 8-sun (115cm), and focusing on matches.
	1867	Restoration of imperial rule as the Bakufu is overthrown. Boshin War starts.	The Shinsengumi is formed in 1863. The Kōbusho is changed in name to the Rikugunsho in 1866.

II. The Development Budō in the Era of Modernization (Timeline 2)
Era	Year	Historical Event	Year	Budō Tradition
Meiji Period	1868	Meiji Restoration.		Traditional bujutsu declines as Japan starts to modernize.
	1871–	Domains are dismantled and replaced with a prefectoral system; land tax reforms; “Education Order”; promotion of industry; conscription; “Sword Abolishment Edict”.	1873	Gekken-kōgyō events become popular but are then banned by government authorities.
	1877	Satsuma Rebellion.	1877	The Keishichō’s (Police Bureau) Battōtai division performs well in battle using only swords, sparking a reconsideration of the usefulness of traditional bujutsu . The Keishichō subsequently introduces gekken and jūjutsu into its training program.
	1881	Popular Rights Movement rises.
	1882–	Matsukata Finance (deflation starts).	1882	Kanō Jigorō establishes the Kōdōkan.
	1883	Increase in civil censorship. Construction on the Rokumeikan commences.	1883	The Ministry of Education investigates whether or not gekken and jūjutsu should be introduced into the school system.
	1884	Deflation crisis. Chichibu Incident.	1884	The National Gymnastics Institute (Taisō Denshūsho) announces bujutsu should not be introduced into the school system.
	1889	The promulgation of the Constitution of the Empire of Japan.	1889	Kanō delivers a lecture on the educational value of jūdō to the Minister of Education.
	1894–1895	Sino-Japanese War. Nationalism starts to peak. Industrial revolution after the war.	1895	The Dai-Nippon Butokukai is established in Kyoto. Kenjutsu , jūjutsu , and kyūjutsu are demonstrated at the Butokukai’s Embu Taikai.
	1899	Nitobe Inazō writes Bushidō in English.	1899	The Butokukai’s Butokuden (Hall of Martial Virtue) is completed.
	1904–1905	Japan wins the Russo-Japanese War.	1905	The Butokukai establishes a school for training bujutsu instructors.
	1910	Korea is annexed by Japan.	1906	The Butokukai’s standardized jūjutsu and kenjutsu forms (kata) are created.
	1911	Tariff autonomy reforms. Anglo-Japanese Alliance renewed. (Chinese Revolution).	1911	The government decides that it is permissible to instruct jūjutsu and gekken at middle schools. The Japan Sports Association is established.

II. The Development Budō in the Era of Modernization (Timeline 2)

Era	Year	Historical Event	Year	Budō Tradition
Taishō Period	1912	Taishō Democracy begins.	1912	The Dai-Nippon Teikoku Kendō Kata is formulated.
	1914–	First World War. Japan's exports increase.	1919	The Butokukai school is changed in name to the Budō Senmon Gakkō. Also, the suffix “-dō” is used to replace “-jutsu” so that kenjutsu becomes kendō , etc.
	1921–	Urbanization, emergence of “salary men”, and the Westernization of the Japanese lifestyle.	1922	Karate is introduced to the Japanese mainland from Okinawa. Kanō Jigorō announces the ideals of seiryoku-zenyō and jita-kyōei . The Keishichō starts its interdepartmental budō tournaments.
	1923	The Great Kantō Earthquake.
	1924	The first Meiji Jingū Sports Tournament is held.	1924	The Butokukai announces its intention not to participate in the Meiji Jingū Sports Tournament.
	1925	The Universal Suffrage Law and The Public Order Act are promulgated.	1926	The Ministry of Education officially starts referring to kenjutsu and jūjutsu as kendō and jūdō .
Shōwa Period	1929	The Great Depression begins.	1929	The emperor watches the “Tenran Budō Taikai” (Tenran-jiai) in which top exponents in kendō and jūdō compete.
	1931	Manchurian Incident.	1931	Jūdō and kendō become compulsory subjects in middle and normal schools.
	1932	The Manchu State is created.
	1932	May 15 Incident. Prime Minister Inukai Tsuyoshi is assassinated.	1936	Kamidana (small Shintō altars) must be placed in dōjō .
	1937	The second Sino-Japanese War intensifies.	1936	Kyūdō and naginata are allowed to be taught in schools.
	1938	“National Mobilization Law” introduced. Strengthening of national consolidation and rise in militarism.	1941	Budō becomes compulsory in Kokumin Gakkō (National [Elementary] Schools). Budō 's militaristic ideology escalates.
	1941	The Asia Pacific War starts.
	1945	Wartime regime, student conscription, evacuation.	1942	The Butokukai becomes an extra-governmental organization. Budō education becomes combat-oriented.

III. Modern Budō (Timeline 3)

Era	Year	Historical Event	Year	Budō Tradition
Post-war Period	1945	Japan loses the war. Occupation; post-war reforms; democratization; gender equality; land reforms; Zaibatsu dissolution; rise of trade unions etc.	1945	Budō is prohibited, and cannot be taught in schools. The various budō seek to “sportify” in order to be resurrected.
	1946	Japanese “Constitution” is promulgated.	1946	Kamidana are removed from the Butokuden and other dōjō . The Dai-Nippon Butokukai is ordered to disband.
	1947	The “Basic Education Act” is passed, a new education system introduced, cold war intensifies, and GHQ's occupation policy changes from “democratization” to “economic reform”.	1946	The Japan Sumō Federation is established. The ban on karate is lifted.
	1947		1948	The Aikikai Foundation is launched.
	1949	Large companies become the centre of economic recovery. The Communist Party forms in China.	1949	The All Japan Judo Federation and the All Nippon Kyūdō Federation are inaugurated.
	1950–1953	Korean War. Japan's economy booms due to special procurements.	1950	The All Japan Shinai-Kyōgi Federation is launched. School jūdō is introduced.
	1951	The San Francisco Peace Treaty is signed with forty-eight countries in the West.	1951	School kyūdō is reinstated.
	1952	Japan's independence is reinstated.	1952	The All Japan Kendo Federation is formed. The All Japan Judo Federation joins the International Judo Federation.

III. Modern Budō (Timeline 3)

Era	Year	Historical Event	Year	Budō Tradition
Post-war Period	1953	Television transmission begins. The Amami Islands are returned.	1953	School kendō is introduced.
	1954	The Self-Defence Force is formed.	1955	The All Japan Naginata Federation is established.
	1955	The Liberal Democratic Party is launched.	1956	All Japan Jukendo Federation is created. Iaidō and jōdō are included in the All Japan Kendo Federation.
	1956	Soviet-Japanese Joint Declaration. Affiliation to the United Nations. "White Paper on the Economy" declares, "Japan is no longer in the post-war period."	1957	The All Japan Shorinji Kempo Federation is formed.
	1959	The crown prince marries. The IOC decides to hold the Olympic Games in Tokyo.	1959	Kakugi is included in the "National Curriculum Guidelines". (Jūdō , kendō and sumō for boys.)
	1959		1959	School naginata is introduced for girls.
Period of High Economic Growth	1960	New United States-Japan Security Treaty demonstrations. Plan for income tax increases unveiled. Beginning of the period of high economic growth.	1961	Jūdō is selected as an Olympic event.
	1964	Tokyo Olympics; Shinkansen; highway system; period of mass-consumption; sports boom (women also).	1962	The Nippon Budokan gains foundation status.
	1964		1964	Nippon Budokan construction is completed. Japan wins gold medals in three weight categories of the Olympic jūdō competition, and a silver in the prestigious open-weight category. Kendō , kyūdō and sumō feature as demonstration sports. The Japan Karatedo Federation is formed. Budō becomes increasingly popular among children and women.
	1965	Korea-Japan Treaty; Vietnam peace movement.	1967	Kyūdō and naginata are permitted as regular subjects in high schools. A Budō Department is started at the Tokyo University of Education (forerunner to Tsukuba University).
	1968	Japan's GDP becomes second in the world.	1968	The Japanese Academy of Budō is launched.
	1968–69	Student demonstrations erupt nationwide.	1969	Seven Iaidō Seitei Kata are created by the AJKF.
	1969	The student's blockade on the Yasuda Auditorium at Tokyo University is lifted.	1970
	1970	Osaka Expo.	1970	The International Kendo Federation and World Union of Karate Organization is formed.
	1971	Nixon (dollar) shocks.	1972	World Shorinji Kempo Federation is established.
The Era of Internationalization	1972	Okinawa is returned to Japan. Establishment of diplomatic relations with China.	1975	The All Japan Kendo Federation promotes the "Concept of Kendo".
	1973	Floating exchange rate system for the yen; Oil shock.	1976	The International Aikido Federation is created.
	1976	Lockheed Incident. Political turmoil ensues.	1977	The Japanese Budō Association is established from ten budō organizations.
	1979	Second oil crisis. Ezra Vogel publishes Japan as No. 1 .	1978	The 1st Kobudō Taikai is held. The Kobudō Kyōkai, an association for classical styles of budō , is created the following year.
	1980	International trade friction as Japan's export profits increase.	1980	A decision is made to build the International Budo University. Three more kata are added to the AJKF's Iaidō Seitei forms.
	1983–	Political reforms.	1984	The International Budo University is officially opened.
	1985	Plaza Accord. High-valued yen.

III. Modern Budō (Timeline 3)

Era	Year	Historical Event	Year	Budō Tradition
The Era of Internationalization	1986–	“Bubble economy”.	1986	Completion of the Budō Science Research Centre.
	1987	Japanese National Railways splits into six private companies.	1987	The “Budō Charter” is formulated.
	1989	The Shōwa Emperor dies. The Heisei era begins.	1988	Women’s jūdō is introduced at the Seoul Olympics.
Heisei Era	1989	End of the Cold War; Berlin Wall is dismantled; Globalized economy.	1989	The term kakugi is replaced by budō in the “National Curriculum Guidelines”.
	1990	Bubble economy collapses; Gulf War begins.	1990	The International Naginata Federation is formed.
	1993	Coalition government; J-League professional soccer starts; mobile phones become popular.	1992	International Sumo Federation is formed.
	1995	Great Hanshin Awaji Earthquake; Tokyo subway sarin gas attacks.	1994	WUKO is changed in name to the World Karate Federation.
	1997	Security broker Yamaichi Shōken ceases its operations; political reforms; deregulation.	1997	The decreasing budō population is debated at the Japanese Academy of Budo.
	2000	Declining birth rates and aging society; nursing-care insurance system introduced.	2000	Blue jūdō-gi are introduced by the International Judo Federation.
	2001	Reorganization of ministries; 9-11 terrorist attack; structural reforms; social disparity intensifies.	2001	All Japan Judo Federation contests a referee's call at the Sydney Olympics.
	2003	The Iraq War starts.	2003	The “ Jūdō Renaissance ” is set in motion.
	2005	Aichi Expo.	2005	An international symposium on budō is held at the International Research Centre for Japanese Studies.
	2006	“Fundamental Law of Education” is changed.	2006	Expo Kendo Festival.
	2008	Lehman Shock and worldwide economic decline.	2008	The International Kyudo Federation is inaugurated.
	2009	The opposition Democratic Party of Japan defeats the ruling coalition of the Liberal Democratic Party and the New Kōmeitō Party in the general election.	2009	New “National Curriculum Guidelines” are instated by MEXT. Budō is to become a compulsory subject at junior high schools from 2012.
				The Nippon Budokan publishes Budō: The Martial Ways of Japan in English.

APPENDIX 2 THE “BUDŌ CHARTER”

The Budō Charter

Budō, the Japanese martial ways, have their origins in the age-old martial spirit of Japan. Through centuries of historical and social change, these forms of traditional culture evolved from combat techniques (jutsu) into ways of self-development (dō).

Seeking the perfect unity of mind and technique, budō has been refined and cultivated into ways of physical training and spiritual development. The study of budō encourages courteous behaviour, advances technical proficiency, strengthens the body, and perfects the mind. Modern Japanese have inherited traditional values through budō which continue to play a significant role in the formation of the Japanese personality, serving as sources of boundless energy and rejuvenation. As such, budō has attracted strong interest internationally, and is studied around the world.

However, a trend towards infatuation just with technical ability compounded by an excessive concern with winning is a severe threat to the essence of budō. To prevent any possible misrepresentation, practitioners of budō must continually engage in self-examination and endeavour to perfect and preserve this traditional culture.

It is with this hope that we, the member organizations of the Japanese Budō Association, established “The Budō Charter” in order to uphold the fundamental principles of budō.

Article 1: Objective of Budō

Through physical and mental training in the Japanese martial ways, budō exponents seek to build their character, enhance their sense of judgement, and become disciplined individuals capable of making contributions to society at large.

Article 2: Keiko (Training)

When training in budō, practitioners must always act with respect and courtesy, adhere to the prescribed fundamentals of the art, and resist the temptation to pursue mere technical skill rather than strive towards the perfect unity of mind, body and technique.

Article 3: Shiai (Competition)

Whether competing in a match or doing set forms (kata), exponents must externalise the spirit underlying budō. They must do their best at all times, winning with modesty, accepting defeat gracefully and constantly exhibiting self-control.

Article 4: Dōjō (Training Hall)

The dōjō is a special place for training the mind and body. In the dōjō, budō practitioners must maintain discipline, and show proper courtesies and respect. The dōjō should be a quiet, clean, safe and solemn environment.

Article 5: Teaching

Teachers of budō should always encourage others to also strive to better themselves and diligently train their minds and bodies, while continuing to further their understanding of the technical principles of budō. Teachers should not allow focus to be put on winning or losing in competition, or on technical ability alone. Above all, teachers have a responsibility to set an example as role models.

Article 6: Promoting Budō

Persons promoting budō must maintain an open-minded and international perspective as they uphold traditional values. They should make efforts to contribute to research and teaching, and do their utmost to advance budō in every way.

APPENDIX 3 JAPANESE BUDŌ ASSOCIATION AND THE JAPANESE ACADEMY OF BUDŌ

Japanese Budō Association

The Nippon Budokan was instrumental in establishing the Japanese Budō Association (Nippon Budō Kyōgikai) in 1977. The association consisted of the nine federations representing jūdō, kendō, kyūdō, sumō, karatedō, aikidō, shōrinji kempō, naginata, and jūkendō. The stated purpose was as follows:

“To facilitate contact between the affiliated organizations to promote the spirit of each art, and ultimately to benefit the physical and mental wellbeing of the nation’s people. In particular, the education of youth is considered essential for the creation of a healthy country, through which we will be able make a national contribution to the stability and prosperity of the world.”

Member Organizations and Number of Registered Dan Holders

All Japan Judo Federation (Zen Nihon Jūdō Renmei) – Founded on May 6, 1949
230,000 registered dan holders (Kōdōkan dan-rank holders not included)

All Japan Kendo Federation (Zen Nippon Kendō Renmei) – October 14, 1952
1,420,000 registered dan holders. Iaidō (80,000) and jōdō (19,000) introduced in 1965

All Nippon Kyudo Federation (Zen Nihon Kyūdō Renmei) – September 15, 1953
130,000 registered dan holders

Japan Sumo Federation (Nihon Sumō Renmei – September 1, 1946
7,000 registered dan holders (75,000 members overall)

Japan Karatedo Federation (Zen Nihon Karate-dō Renmei) – October 1, 1964
300,000 registered members (2,500,000 members overall)

Aikikai Foundation (Aikikai) – April 30, 1940
182,000 registered dan holders (1,000,000 members overall)

Shorinji Kempo Federation (Shōrinji Kempō Renmei) – May 1, 1957
40,000 registered dan holders (140,000 members overall)

All Japan Naginata Federation (Zen Nihon Naginata Renmei) – May 4, 1955
5,500 registered dan holders (65,000 members overall)

All Japan Jukendo Federation (Zen Nihon Jūkendō Renmei) – April 1, 1956
48,000 registered dan holders (400,000 members overall)

Nippon Budokan Foundation (Zaidan Hōjin Nippon Budōkan) – October 3, 1964

Japanese Academy of Budō

The Japanese Academy of Budō was established in 1978 as an organization not only for university academics but also enthusiasts. The Academy publishes research findings in The Research Journal of Budo (available online), and holds an annual convention for research presentations in the categories of humanities, natural sciences, and education and instruction. A symposium addressing a specified theme is also conducted.

There are six branches in Tokyo, Saitama, Yamanashi, Tōkai, Hokuriku and Osaka, and specialist subdivisions for jūdō, kendō, kyūdō, sumō, karatedō and naginata. Currently, there are nine-hundred members, and the head office is based in the Nippon Budokan.

APPENDIX 4 JAPANESE CLASSICAL BUDŌ ASSOCIATION (NIPPON KOBUDŌ KYŌKAI)

The Japanese Classical Budō Association was established in 1979 to preserve and promote Japan's classical martial arts. A Kobudō Embu (Demonstration) Taikai is conducted annually. The Nippon Budokan retails an extensive series of videos / DVDs of eighty-eight ryūha and Kobudō Embu Taikai events. There are currently eighty-three ryūha affiliated with the association. (Alphabetical order, 2008).

Jūjutsu

Daitō-ryū Aiki Jūjutsu (Tokyo)	Daitō-ryū Aiki Jūjutsu Takumakai (Osaka)
Hasegawa-ryū Jūjutsu (Saitama)	Hontai Yōshin-ryū Jūjutsu (Hyōgo)
Igaryūha Katsu Shin-ryū Jūjutsu (Ibaraki)	Kitō-ryū Jūjutsu (Kyoto)
Kiraku-ryū Jūjutsu (Gunma)	Ryūshin Kaichū-ryū Jūjutsu (Hokkaidō)
Sekiguchi Shinshin-ryū Jūjutsu (Wakayama)	Shibukawa-ryū Jūjutsu (Osaka)
Shibukawa Ichi-ryū Jūjutsu (Hiroshima)	Shindō Yōshin-ryū Jūjutsu
Shingetsu Musō Yanagi-ryū Jūjutsu (Hyōgo)	Shoshō-ryū Yawara (Iwate)
Takagi-ryū Jūjutsu & Kukishin Bōjutsu
Takenouchi-ryū Jūjutsu (Hinoshita Torite Kaisan) (Okayama)
Takenouchi-ryū Jūjutsu (Koshi-no-Mawari Kogusoku) (Okayama)
Tenjin Shin'yō-ryū Jūjutsu (Tokyo)	Tenjin Shin'yō-ryū Jūjutsu (Saitama)

Kenjutsu

Bokuden-ryū Kenjutsu (Aomori)	Hokushin Ittō-ryū Kenjutsu (Ibaragi)
Hyōhō Niten Ichi-ryū Kenjutsu (Fukuoka)	Jigen-ryū Heihō Kenjutsu (Kagoshima)
Kashima Shinden Jikishin Kage-ryū Kenjutsu (Chiba)
Kashima Shintō-ryū Kenjutsu (Ibaragi)	Kōgen Ittō-ryū Kenjutsu (Saitama)
Kurama-ryū Kenjutsu (Tokyo)	Mizoguchi-ha Ittō-ryū Kenjutsu (Fukushima)
Noda-ha Niten Ichi-ryū Kenjutsu (Kumamoto)	Ono-ha Ittō-ryū Kenjutsu (Tokyo)
Shindō Munen-ryū Kenjutsu (Tokyo)	Shingyōtō-ryū Kenjutsu (Mie)
Shojitsu Kenri-hō Ichi-ryū Kenjutsu (Okayama)	Taisha-ryū Kenjutsu (Kumamoto)
Tatsumi-ryū Heihō (Chiba)	Tennen Rishin-ryū Kenjutsu (Tokyo)
Tenshinshō-den Katori Shintō-ryū Kenjutsu (Chiba)
Unkō-ryū Kenjutsu (Kumamoto)	Yagyū Shinkage-ryū Heihō Kenjutsu (Aichi)

Iaijutsu, Battōjutsu

Enshin-ryū Iai Suemono (Osaka)	Hayashizaki Musō-ryū Iaijutsu (Yamagata)
Hōki-ryū Iaijutsu (Hyōgo)	Kanemaki-ryū Battō-jutsu (Okayama)
Kanshin-ryū Iaijutsu (Shimane)	Musō Jikiden Eishin-ryū Iaijutsu (Tokyo)
Sekiguchi-ryū Battōjutsu (Kumamoto)
Shojitsu Kenri-hō Ichi-ryū Katchū Battōjutsu (Okayama)
Suiō-ryū Iai Kempō & Masaki-ryū Kusarigama-jutsu (Shizuoka)
Tamiya-ryū Iaijutsu (Kanagawa)

Sōjutsu

Fūden-ryū Sōjutsu (Osaka)	Hōzōin-ryū Takada-ha Sōjutsu (Nara)
Owari Kan-ryū Sōjutsu (Aichi)	Saburi-ryū Sōjutsu (Hiroshima)

Jōjutsu, Bōjutsu

Chikubushima-ryū Bōjutsu (Nagasaki)	Muhi Muteki-ryū Jōjutsu (Ibaragi)
Shindō Musō-ryū Jōjutsu (Fukuoka)

Naginata-jutsu

Higo Koryū Naginata (Kumamoto)
 Tendō-ryū Naginata-jutsu (Kyoto)
 Yōshin-ryū Naginata-jutsu (Hiroshima)

Jikishin Kage-ryū Naginata-jutsu (Nara)
 Toda-ha Bukō-ryū Naginata-jutsu (Tokyo)

Karate, Ryūkyū Kobujutsu

Itosu-ryū Karate (Kanagawa)
 Okinawa Gōjū-ryū Bujutsu (Okinawa)
 Ryūkyū Kobujutsu (Tokyo)

Kingai-ryū Karate Okinawa Kobujutsu (Okinawa)
 Ryūkyū Ōke Hiden Motobu Udundi (Osaka)
 Wadō-ryū Jūjutsu Kempō (Tokyo)

Taijutsu

Nagao-ryū Taijutsu
 Yagyū Shingan-ryū Katchū Heihō (Iwate)

Yagyū Shingan-ryū Taijutsu (Kanagawa)

Hōjutsu

Morishige-ryū Hōjutsu (Kanagawa)
 Yō-ryū Hōjutsu (Fukuoka)

Seki-ryū Hōjutsu (Ibaragi)

Other

Araki-ryū Kempō (Gunma)
 Negishi-ryū Shuriken-jutsu (Tokyo)
 Ogasawara-ryū Kyūba-jutsu (Tokyo)

Araki-ryū Gun'yō Kogusoku (Saitama)
 Nitō Shinkage-ryū Kusarigama-jutsu (Kōchi)
 Takeda-ryū Aiki-no-jutsu (Fukuoka)

Provisional Members

Ittō Shōden Mutō-ryū
 Hōki-ryū Iaijutsu (Kumamoto)

Hōki-ryū Iaijutsu (Hyōho)
 Mugai-ryū Iaijutsu

APPENDIX 5 BUDŌ REFERENCES IN ENGLISH, FRENCH, GERMAN AND SPANISH

This list of books related to the various martial arts in English, French, Spanish and German is by no means comprehensive, but should serve as a useful guide for further reading.

ENGLISH

• Aikidō

Stanley Pranin, Aikido News Encyclopedia, Aiki News, 1989

Stanley Pranin, the editor of the Aikido Journal, is one of the most influential and prolific writers on aikidō. This book is a valuable reference containing detailed information about many influential aikidō masters, and other useful material pertaining to the history and philosophy of the art.

Ueshiba Kisshōmaru, The Spirit of Aikido, Kodansha International, 1988

Kisshōmaru, second Dōshu and son of the founder of aikidō, presents some of the principles and philosophies of the art in a clear and succinct way. This book is an interesting and informative introduction into the often nebulous theories espoused in aikidō.

Ueshiba Morihei, Budo: Teachings of the Founder of Aikido, Kodansha International, 1996

The founder of aikidō did not write much about his art, making the content of this book originally penned in the 1930s a valuable compendium of his ideals. Concise and inspirational in some sections, other areas are somewhat difficult to comprehend. Nevertheless, this book is a vital addition to the martial arts scholar, and the material was translated and edited masterfully by the well-known aikidō practitioner John Stevens.

• Jūdō

Kanō Jigorō, Kodokan Judo, Kodansha International, 1994

This book was first published in 1955, and is considered to be the definitive text on jūdō by many experts. It contains descriptions of the formal techniques of jūdō, and all seven sets of kata. The descriptions are brief, but are useful to both advanced and novice practitioners.

Syd Hoare, The A-Z of Judo, Ippon Books, 1993

Syd Hoare collated information from a number of authoritative texts, and brought it together in this volume with clear photographs to introduce many jūdō techniques. This book is a valuable reference for the technical aspects of jūdō.

• Karate

Funakoshi Gichin, The Twenty Guiding Principles of Karate: The Spiritual Legacy of the Master, Kodansha International, 2003

Written by the “father” of Japanese karate, this volume examines the essence of the art he introduced into mainland Japan in the 1920s. Although Funakoshi founded Shōtōkan karate, the principles contained in the book are applicable to all styles of karate.

Nakayama Masatoshi, Dynamic Karate, Kodansha International, 1987

The late Masatoshi Nakayama, former chief instructor of the Japan Karate Association, illustrates in detail the correct movements involved in various standard blocks, punches, and kicks used in karate. The book also contains a useful glossary of karate terms.

• Kendō

Ozawa Hiroshi, Kendo: The Definitive Guide, Kodansha International, 1997

This highly acclaimed book contains useful information about all aspects of kendō. This includes the history of kendō, techniques, competitions, and even guidelines for running training sessions. Ozawa hails from a highly influential family of kendō masters, and passed the extremely difficult 8-dan examination in 2010.

Sakai Toshinobu (translated by Alexander Bennett), Bilingual Guide to the History of Kendo, Ski Journal, 2010

A recent addition to the growing body of literature related to kendō, this book covers the historical evolution of the philosophy and culture of Japanese swordsmanship. As a bilingual publication, the Japanese text is placed on the left pages, and the English on the right. Apart from elucidating the often confusing historical aspects of kendō, this small volume may be of particular interest to practitioners who are also studying the Japanese language.

Sasamori Junzō and Gordon Warner, This is Kendo: The Art of Japanese Fencing, Tuttle Publishing, 1989 (reprint)

This book is considered the classic introduction to kendō in the English language. Although slightly dated now, especially some of explanations for applied techniques, it provides a relatively comprehensive overview of kendō history, culture and waza.

Kendo World Journal Vol. 1–5*, Bunkasha International

Kendo World is a biannual publication devoted to kendō, but also with sections dealing with koryū, iaidō, jōdō and naginata and related arts. The content varies and contains information on history, philosophy, and techniques of kendō. Featuring articles translated from Kendō Jidai and Kendō Nihon, as well as original articles, Kendo World is highly acclaimed as a reliable source of information, and the only regular English language publication dedicated to the Japanese sword arts.

• Kyūdō

Onuma Hideharu, Dan and Jackie DeProspero, Kyudo: The Essence and Practice of Japanese Archery, Kodansha International, 1993

This volume is undoubtedly the most comprehensive guide available in English on kyūdō. The authors offer detailed explanations on both the spiritual and the technical aspects of the art. The text is accompanied by hundreds of illustrations and photographs, making it a useful reference for practitioners of all levels.

• Naginata

Alexander Bennett, Naginata: The Definitive Guide, KW Publications, 2005

This book covers the history and practice of Naginata, using original source materials, and technical photos taken under the guidance of Kimura Yasuko. Sanctioned by the International Naginata Federation, this is the first comprehensive English-language guide to this growing martial art, and the first in any language to comprehensively collate information on the history, philosophy, techniques and rules of the art into one volume.

• General

Alexander Bennett (ed.), Budo Perspectives, KW Publications, 2005

This publication is the result of an international symposium: “The Direction of Japanese Budō in the 21st Century: Past, Present, Future”, conducted at the International Research Centre for Japanese Studies in November, 2003. The book contains academic articles related to the history, philosophy, and educational aspects of many different types of budō by leading Japanese and foreign scholars in the field.

Alexander Bennett (ed. & trans.), Budō: The Martial Ways of Japan, Nippon Budokan Foundation, 2009

First published in Japanese to commemorate the 35th anniversary of the Japanese Budō Association, this book is essentially a report by the various federations outlining the inroads made over the last four decades in popularizing their arts, and the issues they face in the future. The underlying theme is one of urgency. How can the budō world appeal to generations of people who potentially stand to benefit from what budō has to offer? The purpose and content of the English version is slightly different from the Japanese volume as it includes a degree of contextual clarification, specifically for non-Japanese readers with little knowledge of Japan’s history, or of the various budō arts that exist.

FRENCH

• Aikidō

Ueshiba Kisshomaru et Moriteru, Aikido officiel – Enseignement fondamental, traduction Josette Nickels-Grolier, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 2004

Manuel pratique avec photographies. Présentation des techniques de préparation à la pratique et des techniques fondamentales de l'aikidō. Traduit de l'anglais.

Ueshiba Moriteru, Aikido officiel – Enseignement supérieur, traduction Josette Nickels-Grolier, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 2005

Manuel pratique avec photographies. Présentation des techniques avancées et des techniques avec armes de l'aikidō. Ce volume introduit également le travail sur le souffle. Traduit de l'anglais.

• Jūdō

Brousse Michel, Les racines du judo français, Pessac, Presses Universitaires de Bordeaux, 2005

Ce livre retrace la naissance et l'évolution du jūdō en France ainsi que l'histoire de la fédération française de jūdō. Michel Brousse y établit une importante bibliographie comprenant manuels techniques, articles scientifiques, bulletins fédéraux, articles de presse, caricatures, photographies, etc. Attention, ce livre ne traite pas des aspects purement techniques ou sportifs du jūdō (mouvements, techniques, règles, kata...)

Kanō Jigorō, Judo Kodokan. La bible du judo, traduction Thierry Plée et Valérie Melin, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 2006

Cet ouvrage, écrit par le fondateur du jūdō en collaboration avec plusieurs grands noms du Kōdōkan, présente l'historique et les aspects théoriques de la discipline. La quasi intégralité des techniques du jūdō y est consignée.

Kanō Jigorō, L'essence du judo, traduction Josette Nickels-Grolier, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 2007

Ce livre réunit plusieurs écrits de Kanō Jigōrō traitant des concepts clefs et de la philosophie du jūdō. Traduit de l'anglais.

• Karate

Funakoshi Gichin, Karate-do : ma voie, ma vie, traduction Valérie Melin, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 2007

Autobiographie du fondateur du karate moderne, Funakoshi Gichin. Ce livre regroupe des anecdotes présentées par l'auteur, sans suivre de chronologie particulière. Traduit de l'anglais.

• Kendō

Delorme Pierre, Kendo : la voie du sabre, Paris, Guy Trédaniel Editeur, 2007

Introduction aux différents aspects de la pratique du kendō, regroupés en trois axes principaux : la posture, la respiration et l'état d'esprit. L'auteur présente les techniques de base et les coupes, avant d'aborder les principes plus théoriques et spirituels de la discipline.

• Kyūdō

Herrigel Eugen, Le zen dans l'art chevaleresque du tir à l'arc, Paris, Editions Devry, 1998

Récit autobiographique par le philosophe allemand Eugen Herrigel. Il retrace sa période d'apprentissage du kyūdō au Japon dans les années 1920. Le livre décrit son parcours en tant qu'élève, sa rencontre avec le maître de tir à l'arc Awa Kenzō, son premier cours, ses erreurs, le travail sur le souffle, ou bien encore l'aspect spirituel du tir. Traduit de l'allemand.

Onuma Hideharu, Kyudo – l'essence et la pratique du tir à l'arc japonais, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 1998

Petite encyclopédie du kyūdō dans laquelle le maître Onuma Hideharu aborde des sujets aussi variés que la technique du tir à l'arc japonais, la philosophie et l'histoire du kyūdō, la construction d'un dōjō ou le choix de l'équipement. Traduit de l'anglais.

• Classiques

Issai Chozan, Le sermon du tengu sur les arts martiaux, traduction Josette Nickels-Grolier, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 2008

Traduction française du Tengu geijutsu ron, traité achevé en 1729 soulignant les bienfaits spirituels de l'étude du sabre. Ecrit en période de paix, dans une société régie par la pensée confucianiste, l'auteur du Tengu geijutsu ron s'oppose au bouddhisme et tente de désavouer l'influence du Zen dans la pratique du sabre. Traduit de l'anglais.

Miyamoto Musashi, Traité des cinq roues, traduction Maryse et Masumi Shibata, Paris, Editions Albin Michel, 1983

Traduction française du Gorin no sho, traité d'escrime et de stratégie de Miyamoto Musashi écrit au XVII^e siècle. Le texte est divisé en cinq parties : le Rouleau de la terre où sont décrits les principes généraux des arts martiaux et de la stratégie, le Rouleau de l'eau où est décrit le style de Musashi, le Rouleau du feu traitant de la stratégie à appliquer en duel ou sur les champs de bataille, le Rouleau du vent où Musashi pointe du doigt les erreurs commises par les autres écoles, et enfin le Rouleau du vide où sont exposés certains principes ésotériques. Traduit du japonais.

Yagyū Munenori, Le sabre de vie : les enseignements secrets de la maison du Shōgun, traduction Josette Nickels-Grolier, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 2005

Traduction française du Heihō kadensho, traité d'escrime et de stratégie de Yagyū Munenori, écrit au XVII^e siècle. La première partie présente les techniques et les principes de l'école Shinkage-ryū. Sont exposés par la suite des aspects plus philosophiques, notamment empruntés au Zen, comme la théorie du « sabre de mort » et de « l'épée de vie » (settsu-nin tō / katsu-jin ken). Traduit de l'anglais.

• Ouvrages divers

Amdur Ellis, Traditions martiales. Origine et transmission du savoir dans les écoles d'escrime japonaise, traduction Guy LeSieur et Yvon Racine, Noisy sur Ecole, Budo Editions, 2006

Ouvrage traitant des écoles martiales traditionnelles du Japon. De nombreux styles et plusieurs armes y sont présentés. Le livre contient également un article traitant des femmes guerrières au Japon. L'auteur propose enfin une critique du naginata sportif moderne. Traduit de l'anglais.

Andlauer Dominique, Vertu et richesse de l'étiquette dans les arts martiaux traditionnels japonais, Paris, Amphora, 1996

A travers ce livre, Dominique Andlauer examine différents aspects de l'Etiquette dans les arts martiaux et budō japonais. Après une première partie d'introduction générale, l'auteur retranscrit plusieurs interviews sur le thème de l'Etiquette menées avec des professeurs d'aikidō, de iaidō, de jōdō, de karate...

Tokitsu Kenji, Budō – Le ki et le sens du combat, Méolans-Revel, Editions DésIris, 2000

Etude sur l'utilisation du ki et sur son importance dans le combat au sabre (kendō) et dans le karate. L'auteur compare également les différentes relations au ki qu'entretiennent ces deux disciplines.

Tokitsu Kenji, Miyamoto Musashi, maître de sabre japonais du XVII^e siècle, Méolans-Revel, Editions DésIris, 1998

Ce livre se présente comme une biographie de Miyamoto Musashi. Il contient une analyse de plusieurs de ses écrits. Le Gorin no sho y est intégralement traduit et l'on y trouve aussi l'une des rares traductions françaises (bien que partielle) du Heihō sanjūgo kajo.

GERMAN

• Aikidō

Stevens John, „Unendlicher Friede“. Die Biographie von Morihei Ueshiba, Gründer des Aikidō, Kristkeitz Verlag, 2002

In der vorliegenden Biografie werden anhand des Lebensweges Ueshibas historische und gesellschaftliche Hintergründe der Entstehung des Aikidō aufgezeigt.

Ueshiba Kisshōmaru, Der Geist des Aikidō, Kristkeitz Verlag, 2003

Verfasst vom Sohn des Begründers. Neben den technischen Prinzipien werden die erzieherischen und geistigen Aspekte dieser Kampfkunst ausführlich dargelegt.

Ueshiba Morihei, Budō. Das Lehrbuch des Gründers des Aikidō, Kristkeitz Verlag, 1997

Die Bearbeitete Übersetzung von Ueshibas Lehrbuch Budō von 1938 stellt ein wertvolles Dokument zur Entwicklung des Aikido in der Vorkriegszeit dar. Ueshiba erläutert Technik, Geist und Zielsetzung seiner Kunst. Zahlreiche historische Fotos zeigen den Gründer in der Frühphase des Aikido.

• Jūdō

Kanō Jigorō, Kōdōkan Jūdō, Verlag Dieter Born, 2007 (Japanische Erstauflage 1956)

Revidierte deutsche Fassung von Kōdōkan Jūdō, basierend auf der englischen Übersetzung. Umfassende Erläuterung des kompletten Lehrprogramms des Kōdōkan Jūdō, verfasst von Kanō, dem Gründer der Schule und weiteren führenden Meistern des Kōdōkan. Das Buch behandelt grundlegende Prinzipien und Techniken des Jūdō, außerdem sind eine Abhandlung zum freien Kampf (randori) sowie sämtliche Formen (kata) enthalten. Des Weiteren sind Erläuterungen zu Geschichte, erste Hilfe usw. enthalten.

Niehaus Andreas, Leben und Werk Kanō Jigorōs (1860-1938). Ein Forschungsbeitrag zur Leibeserziehung und zum Sport in Japan, Ergon, 2003

Unfassende Darstellung der Geschichte des Jūdō und der Rolle Kanōs für Leibeserziehung und Sport in Japan.

Velte Herbert, Judo von A-Z, Pietsch Verlag, 2009

Lexikon mit über 2000 Fachbegriffen in alphabetischer Reihenfolge, außerdem sind eine Chronik der Entwicklung des Judo in Deutschland und ein kurzer Abriss zum geschichtlichen Hintergrund des Judo enthalten.

• Karate

Bittmann Heiko, Die Lehre des Karate-dō, Verlag Heiko Bittmann, 2000

Verkürzte Fassung der Dissertation von 1999, erschienen im selben Verlag. Umfangreiche Darstellung der Geschichte des Karate und der kulturellen Hintergründe, sowie Erläuterung der wesentlichen Lehrtexte der vier Hauptstilrichtungen und Biografien ihrer Begründer.

Funakoshi Gichin, Karate-dō. Mein Weg, Kristkeitz Verlag, 2001

Deutsche Fassung von Karate dō ichiro, erstmals erschienen 1956. Autobiografie Funakoshis. Enthält neben persönlichen Erfahrungen und Anekdoten auch Gedanken zu Hintergründen, Philosophie und Geschichte des Karate.

Funakoshi Gichin, Karate-Dō Nyūmon. Einführung zum Meistertext, Schlatt Verlag, 2000

1943 erschien das Buch erstmals in japanischer Sprache unter dem Titel Karate Nyūmon. Die deutsche Fassung basiert auf der englischen Übersetzung von 1988. Die Zusammenstellung der wesentlichen Lehrtexte Funakoshis umfasst Zielsetzung, Methodik und Technik des Karate. Die wesentlichen Formen (kata), welche die Grundlage des heutigen shōtōkan bilden, werden ausführlich erläutert.

Handel Horst, Karate oder das Wesen des Dō, Schlatt Verlag, 1998

Umfassende Darstellung des Karate, verfasst von einem der Pioniere des Karate in Deutschland. Neben den technischen und sportlichen Aspekten des Karate werden auch Geschichte und Philosophie umfassend behandelt

Fragas Jose M., Karate Masters, Schlatt Verlag, 2008

Interviews mit mehr als 20 Karate-Pionieren des 20. Jahrhunderts, die an der internationalen Verbreitung des Karate maßgeblich beteiligt waren. Es kommen Meister aus Japan, Australien, Europa und Nordamerika zu Wort.

• KendōOshima Kotaro und Kozo Ando, Kendo. Lehrbuch des japanischen Schwertkampfes, Weinmann, 2006

Erläuterung von Ausrüstung und Waffe, Grundtechniken und Anwendung in der Wettkampfpraxis, außerdem Darstellungen der maßgeblichen Formen (kata). Allerdings wird in dem Buch kaum auf den geschichtlichen Hintergrund eingegangen.

• KyūdōHerrigel Eugen, Zen in der Kunst des Bogenschießens, O.W.Barth Verlag (bei Scherz), 2003 (erstmals erschienen 1948)

Anhand seiner eigenen Erfahrungen in Japan schildert Herrigel aus westlicher Sicht das Die Kunst des Bogenschießens als spirituellen Weg im Sinne des Zen-Buddhismus.

Hoff Feliks F. und Genshiro Inagaki, Kyudo. Die Kunst des Bogenschießens, Weinmann, 2005 (Erstauflage 1979)

Standardlehrwerk des japanischen Bogenschießens. Neben der historischen Entwicklung werden Technik, Material und Trainingsmethoden ausführlich behandelt.

• Allgemeine DarstellungenHanelt Klaus, Taschenwörterbuch der Kampfkünste Japans, Verlag Dieter Born, 2009

Zusammenstellung gebräuchlicher Fachbegriffe aus den japanischen Kampfkünsten in lateinischer Umschrift und japanischen Schriftzeichen in rund 3700 Einträgen mit dem Schwerpunkt auf Jūdō. Begriffe aus anderen Budō-Disziplinen wie Aikidō, Kendō usw. wurden ebenfalls aufgenommen, außerdem sind Erläuterungen zu den historischen Hintergründen enthalten.

Möller Jörg (Herausgeber), Die Geschichte der Kampfkünste, Lüneburg, Verlag der Universität Lüneburg, 1996

Aufsatzsammlung zur Geschichte der einzelnen Budō-Künste. Enthalten sind u.a. Darstellungen zu Judo und Karate.

Reid Howard and Michael Croucher, Der Weg des Kriegers. Kampfsportarten-Tradition, Technik, Geist, Hugendubel, 1999

Überblick über die ostasiatischen Kampfkünste mit Schwerpunkt auf Indien, China und Japan unter ausführlicher Erläuterung der jeweiligen kulturellen und gesellschaftlichen Hintergründe.

Von Saldern Matthias, Budo in heutiger Zeit, Universität Lüneburg, 1998

Sammlung von Vorträgen, gehalten auf dem ersten Europäischen Budō Symposiums, das 1998 in Deutschland, unter Zusammenarbeit mit der japanischen Botschaft statt fand.

SPANISH• Aikidō

Satō Nagashima, Aikido Básico, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1982

Como dice el título del libro, este libro es para instruir el Aikido básicamente. Explica qué es el Aikido y el Ki al principio del libro. Después explica los movimientos del cuerpo y las técnicas con muchas ilustraciones

J.S Nalda Albiac, Apuntes de Aikido, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1981

Como el título del libro, no es el libro de instrucciones sino el libro que explica los términos del Aikido con las caricaturas. Contiene, por ejemplo, el Ki, la Respiración, Tai-sabaki, La no-violencia, el Bushido, el Zen etc. Para los que tienen interés en el Aikido o apenas empiezan el Aikido es muy útil.

• Jūdō

Jean-François Renault & Ana María Arranz Carabias, El Judo en Diez lecciones, Editorial Cantábrica, Bilbao, 1975

Este libro es un manual en el que se trata de lo básico del Judo. Y empieza con los grandes principios, donde explican cómo ponerse el cinturón, manera de saludarse, etc. Después ven los nagewaza, katame-waza con las ilustraciones. Al final del libro se encuentra “Anexo de A a Z”, donde se pueden buscar los términos para entender mejor el jūdō.

Cesar Barioli, El Judo en 12 lecciones, Editorial de Vecchi, Barcelona, 1979

Este libro trata del Judo general. Se explican los diferentes waza detalladamente con algunas ilustraciones. Al final se explican los Reglamentos Internacionales de competiciones de Judo y Palabras utilizadas por el árbitro en el transcurso del arbitraje. Entonces, este libro se sirve no sólo para los principiantes sino también para los que llevan tiempo practicando Judo.

Jen Heim, El Judo - Apréndalo por sí mismo, Espasa-Calpe, Madrid, 1967

Como el subtítulo dice, este libro es útil para aprender el Judo por sí mismo. Explica desde los principios generales del Judo hasta la preparación para las competiciones. Se utilizan muchas fotos sobre los waza con los que nos hacen más fácil aprenderlo.

Robert Lasserre, Judo. Manual práctico: Según las enseñanzas del Kodokan de Tokio. Editorial Hispano Europea, 1975

Este libro trata del Judo desde su historia hasta el reglamento de los torneos. Lo característico de este libro es que explica los waza desde el punto de vista del movimiento del cuerpo. Por ejemplo, los Ashi-waza se dividen en dos grupos: los movimientos realizados al nivel del tobillo y los con toda la pierna. Se utilizan muchas ilustraciones no sólo de las formas sino los movimientos de las piernas.

Raymond Thomas, Judo Moderno: Nage no Kata, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1980

Este libro tiene sólo 76 páginas, donde explican el Judo básico. Es principalmente para los principiantes, y explica los Kata del Judo con las ilustraciones. Es el primer libro de los libros en serie sobre el Judo.

Raymond Thomas, Judo Moderno: Programa para cinturón blanco y amarillo, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1971

A continuación del libro mencionado arriba, este libro trata de las explicaciones para los que acaba de empezar el Judo de como el segundo libro de la serie. Entonces, este libro contiene lo básico del Judo como “¿Qué es el Judo?”, “Nacimiento del Judo” etc.” Como apéndice, existe la lista de las palabras en japonés empleadas en el Judo con las palabras españolas adecuadas, que es útil para entender mejor el Judo.

Raymond Thomas, Judo Moderno: Programa para cinturón naranja y verde, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1972

Este libro es como el tercer libro de los libros en serie sobre el Judo. Entonces, en este libro se trata de los waza para el nivel de tercer Kyu (cinturón verde) y cuarto Kyu (cinturón naranja) del Judo, con algunas ilustraciones.

Raymond Thomas, Judo Moderno: Programa para cinturón azul y marrón, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1972

Este libro es como el cuarto libro de los libros en serie sobre el Judo. Entonces, este libro trata de los waza más difíciles para el nivel del primer Kyu (cinturón marrón) y del segundo Kyu (cinturón azul) del Judo, con algunas ilustraciones.

Tony Reay y Geoffrey Hobbs, Manual de Judo, Editorial Diana, México, 1989

Este libro fue escrito en inglés en Londres el 1979, y traducido al español por el Editorial Diana. Este libro trata de lo básico del Judo y ve no sólo las técnicas del Judo sino su historia, sus reglas para la competición, la manera de entrenamiento etc. Para explicar las técnicas utilizan muchos dibujos que nos facilitan entenderlas mejor. Para el entrenamiento, también se utilizan los dibujos. Este libro es útil para los principiantes y para los que llevan poco tiempo practicando Judo.

• Kendō

John Panchamé, El Kendo : La esgrima japonesa, técnicas y katas, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1986

Este libro sólo tiene 61 páginas, que explica el Kendo desde su historia hasta las combinaciones básicas con muchas fotos que facilitan entender bien el Kendo a los lectores.

• Kyūdō

José Santos Nalda, Kyudo, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1988

Este libro es un manual elemental del Kyudo, que explica el concepto y el espíritu del Kyudo, y también las técnicas. Sin embargo, este libro abunda muchas ilustraciones(o caricaturas) pero con pocas explicaciones. Parece que este libro es para la presentación del Kyudo que sirve para que los lectores tengan interés en el Kyudo.

• Naginata

José Santos Nalda, Naginata, Editorial Alas, Barcelona, 1988

Este libro es para explicar el Naginata desde el principio hasta la manera de competición. Para este motivo, al principio del libro explica la historia de Naginata con caricaturas. Después explica las posturas, los movimientos y los kata con muchas ilustraciones. Es útil como una introducción del Naginata.